MSST 804: Internship (3 credits) is required to complete the Museum Studies Certificate. The internship consists of 350 hours of supervised work experience intended to complement the program’s courses and provide real-world experience in a museum, historic site, public garden, archive, or other related organization. Most students complete their internship hours between their first and second year of academic study, but internships may be undertaken, or completed, during the academic year. Some students choose to split their internship hours into several segments in order to explore various career paths. Students may also choose to participate in the Museum Studies Collections SWAT Team project each January as part of their internship hours. Below are the requirements for setting up and completing internships for both students and sponsors, and advice on finding internships. This explains the internship policies associated with various academic programs. Both students and organizations interested in having interns should contact Kasey Grier, Internship Coordinator for the Museum Studies Program, early in the academic year to indicate their interest and to begin planning.

Finding an Internship

1. Notify Museum Studies. Students must notify the Museum Studies Director and the Internship Coordinator in writing that they wish to complete a Museum Studies internship by 15 November of each academic year.

2. Find an internship. There are many ways to find an internship. A good first step is a consultation with Internship Coordinator. Please keep in touch with her throughout your process of arranging an internship. She can help you at key points during the process.

If you know where you want to intern

Students should search the organization’s website for internship postings and guidelines. (Internship opportunities are sometimes listed on the education department page, or in the job opportunities section.) If there is an applicable listing, or if the student already has a contact with the museum, he or she should proceed with applying for a position. Please notify the Museum Studies internship coordinator that you have submitted an application, and keep the coordinator apprised of your progress.

Internship Guidelines 2016

University of Delaware Museum Studies Program
If no internships are listed, or if the openings are not a good fit, contact our Internship Director. She can help connect you to a key staffer at the organization. With that introduction, you can work with the museum directly to set up an individualized internship. You must also complete the museum’s own intern hiring process and you must submit a completed internship contract to the Museum Studies Program.

If you are not sure where you want to intern

Start by browsing the listings found in MuseWeekly, and other museum job sites. If there are suitable openings, submit an application, and notify the internship coordinator. Deadlines for paid internships in particular often have early deadlines, so start looking in the fall.

But if nothing seems like a good fit, schedule a meeting with the Internship Coordinator during campus office hours or by phone. (See contact information above) For that meeting, students should think about the following:

1) Which semester or during what time period do you want to intern?
2) What is your availability during that time? What days or times can you work?
3) Do you have preferences or requirements for the city or state where you want to intern?
4) In what type of organization do you want to work? (i.e. art gallery, natural history museum, historic site, botanical garden)
5) What is your career interest? Do you want to intern in education, exhibitions, collections management, administration, development or another area?

After the meeting, the coordinator will find contacts at institutions in your area of interest, and will put you in touch with the appropriate staff. Once the coordinator has made an introduction, you are responsible for negotiating the internship.

3. Once you have negotiated the terms of an internship, you must complete the following forms:

   - The Internship Experience Form (contract)
   - The Internship Timetable
   - The Internship Expectations Form

IF YOU ARE CONDUCTING YOUR INTERNSHIP HOURS AT SEVERAL SITES, YOU MUST HAVE THE ABOVE FORMS FOR EACH INSTITUTION. Both the student and the project/site supervisor must complete and sign the forms before the start of the internship and submit it to the Internship Coordinator. Sometimes the sponsoring organization already has a standard internship contract; if this is the case, please share this contract with the internship coordinator before signing.

Internship Guidelines 2016
Requirements for Sponsoring Organizations

All sponsors must provide a detailed job description for the intern, sign a contract and, in the case of summer internships, provide at least a small stipend to help support their intern’s work. We require that each supervisor complete 1.) The Internship Expectation Form, 2.) The Internship Timetable, and 3.) The Internship Evaluation Form and 4.) The Internship Evaluation Letter.

Your intern should have a job description that outlines both the specific projects and the routine duties that he or she will undertake. The intern must also have a designated supervisor at your site. We expect that your intern will observe the same work rules as other staff members. However, interns should also be given special opportunities to learn about your entire organization. This includes attending department and all-staff meetings, events and trainings where appropriate, and assisting with major museum events, exhibits or programs when practical.

Financial Support

All University of Delaware Museum Studies students are graduate students. Almost all of them are self-supporting young adults and emerging professionals with real skills and prior related work experience. For this reason, we expect all organizations sponsoring a summer internship to contribute financially to the support of their intern. The size of this contribution is negotiated as part of the internship agreement. If your operating budget does not permit allocating funds to support an intern, please consider applying for grant support or seeking out a private donor.

Method of Evaluation

75 per cent of the final grade will be based on the supervisor’s evaluation of the intern’s work, including both routine duties and the internship project. 25 per cent will be based on the student’s final report to the Internship Coordinator.

Statement of Expectations.

Please discuss the duties and expectations for the internship with the Internship Coordinator and your onsite supervisor before all parties sign the contract.

If you must withdraw from the internship, two weeks’ notice in writing is required.

You must coordinate a site visit with the Internship Coordinator during the term of the internship.

1. The intern will meet the site’s expectations for reliability and professional conduct. The intern will perform both routine duties as described in the internship description and special project assignments.
2. The site and internship supervisor will meet expectations for reliability and professionalism. The supervisor will be willing to share knowledge and impart best practices with the intern.

3. A representative of the University of Delaware Museum Studies Program will visit the internship site during the course of work.

4. The University of Delaware Museum Studies Program will provide necessary support and supervision during the period of the internship. If a disagreement between intern and supervisor develops during the period of the internship, the Museum Studies Program Internship Coordinator and Director will determine the proper course of action, including possible termination of the internship.

5. The supervisor will evaluate the intern’s work and provide written documentation to the Internship Coordinator, who will provide the final grade for MSST 804.

FINAL REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR STUDENTS AND SUPERVISORS

Student final report.

A final report is required TWO WEEKS after your internship hours are completed. The report should be 1,500 to 3,000 words, double spaced. You may include photographs if you wish. The report will be retained in the Program's student file. With your permission, a copy of this report may be sent to the intern's supervisor at the sponsoring institution.

Include the following in your report:

- Describe the mission of each organization where internship hours were undertaken, and identify and characterize the mission(s). Describe the governance/administrative/operational structure of each, identify the division or department with which you have been working, and briefly describe its purpose.
- Identify your supervisor and discuss his or her position in the organization(s).
- Discuss the work you performed. Did you gain new skills? What did you learn that was new to you?
- Briefly recount the purpose, focus, and content of the special project (or discrete portion of a major project) that you worked on.
- Discuss how your internship experiences have contributed to your professional development.
- Identify and briefly discuss both the positive and negative features of your internship experience.

Attach as appendices or provide links to any materials that you produced during your internship. Also, please attach to your final report the evaluation form that was completed by your supervisor and shared with you.
Supervisor evaluation. The internship supervisor is required to complete the one-page supervisor evaluation form and to meet with the intern to discuss the intern’s overall performance. This form becomes part of the student’s file in the Museum Studies Program.

Documenting your internship

Aside from the forms you are required to keep, each intern will also post at least 1 blog entry on the Museum Studies Internship Blog - http://museumstudiesinmotion.blogspot.com/ An invitation to become a editor so you have permission to post will be sent to. If you have any questions, please contact Tracy Jentzsch, MSST Program Coordinator, jentzsch@udel.edu

Interns are also encouraged to post about their experience on the Museum Studies Facebook Page (www.facebook.com/pages/Museum-Studies-at-the-University-of-Delaware) and on the Museum Studies Twitter Account - @UDMuseumStudies  If you do not have access to social media, you may forward your content and images to Tracy Jentzsch, MSST Program Coordinator, jentzsch@udel.edu

Prior to posting anything on line, students are required to talk to their site supervisor concerning the internship site’s policy on social media. Please inquire about permission to post images.

If you have any other questions, problems or suggestions for improving the internship experience, please contact Kasey Grier (kcgrier@udel.edu) or Tracy Jentzsch (jentzsch@udel.edu)
